Dear Ambassador Mulcahy:

I have enclosed a letter from Professor Richard Falk together with its enclosures and my self-explanatory reply. I thought you might want to comment before I continued this correspondence.

Dr. Falk is a distinguished international legal scholar with as you know a deep interest in human rights policy. He would, I am sure, much appreciate having your comments, as would I.

Let me take this opportunity to thank you and your staff for the helpful reporting you have been providing. Please keep it up and stop by the next time you are in the United States so we can get better acquainted.

Sincerely,

Patricia M. Derian

Three were released earlier after posting $100 bond each. Their release has been delayed for up to 90 days by prosecutors a chance to appeal a lower-court ruling voiding the convictions of two key defendants.

What bothers Rountree and whites here is that the "Dawson Five" matter has moved beyond the victim and those who are accused of killing him—poor rural whites ranging in age from 18 to 35 whom are functionally illiterate.

When Sen. Frank Church reported to the Oval Office on his trip to Cuba, President Carter was anxious to know whether Fidel Castro would give a little on taking his Cuban troops out of Africa. Church's reply: not one inch. That was the dark cloud, scarcely mentioned in news accounts, over the question of the Cuban expeditionary forces in Africa, Castro expelling the Marxist Angolan government and were sent only in response to South African troops.

Church then told the Cuban leader from Dean Rusk, Henry Kissinger, Lynn Johnson and Richard Nixon in justification of U.S. troops in Vietnam. Castro objected to the comparison but gave Church no hope whatsoever about one Cuban soldier's returning home. That was had news for Carter, who wants full U.S.-Cuban diplomatic relations renewed but knows how difficult it will be if the Cuban expeditionary force remains in Africa fighting Angola's and Communist guerrillas.

The comprehensiveness of what Carter aides call the "full-court press" for Panama Canal treaty approval was demonstrated Aug. 30 when the State Department temporarily shed its scruples on human rights to quietly approve the sale of eight helicopters to Argentina's military regime. The reason: President Reagan. If Gen. Jorge Videla, the Argentine president, in Washington other Latin American heads of state for the signing of the Panama Canal treaty. Gen. Omar Torrijos, recently told Western diplomats that he privately disapproves of the treaty. So the State Department's sale of eight Bell helicopters, held up at the State Department for months, suddenly was approved. The State Department's regime by requiring of the United States to "provide assurance that the right helicopter will not be used for internal security purposes."

many of the problems in the past have come from a lack of education, a lack of well educated people, and a lack of a strong military power. It is time to change that. We need a strong military power, a strong economy, and a strong education system. We need to be able to defend ourselves, and we need to be able to compete in the world market. We need to be able to stand up for our rights, and we need to be able to stand up for our principles. We need to be able to stand up for our freedom, and we need to be able to stand up for our democracy. We need to be able to stand up for our values, and we need to be able to stand up for our beliefs. We need to be able to stand up for our identity, and we need to be able to stand up for our future. We need to be able to stand up for our dreams, and we need to be able to stand up for our hopes. We need to be able to stand up for our faith, and we need to be able to stand up for our love. We need to be able to stand up for our compassion, and we need to be able to stand up for our kindness. We need to be able to stand up for our honesty, and we need to be able to stand up for our integrity. We need to be able to stand up for our courage, and we need to be able to stand up for our strength. We need to be able to stand up for our resilience, and we need to be able to stand up for our perseverance. We need to be able to stand up for our determination, and we need to be able to stand up for our resolve. We need to be able to stand up for our conviction, and we need to be able to stand up for our belief. We need to be able to stand up for our faith, and we need to be able to stand up for our love. We need to be able to stand up for our compassion, and we need to be able to stand up for our kindness. We need to be able to stand up for our honesty, and we need to be able to stand up for our integrity.
